SENATE FINANCE BODY DEFIES THE GOVERNOR

EDUCATIONAL APPROPRIATION BILL PRESENTED

ASKS FOR $4,000,000 MORE THAN SUM APPROVED BY GOV. CHRISTIANSON

ROCKNE, CHAIRMAN OF COMMITTEE, PRESENTS BILL TO BE APPROVED OR VETOED

St. Paul, March 23.—(UP)—Governor Theodore Christianson was openly defied today when Sen. A. J. Rockne presented in the upper house the educational appropriation bill carrying $4,000,000 more than the sum approved by the governor.

Rockne, chairman of the senate finance committee, placed the veritable bomb shell in the senate which must be either approved in toto or vetoed in the same fashion.

The finance committee decided on Tuesday to present the bill in a lump sum thereby forcing the governor to accept or reject, with other appropriations, the controversial school aid and deficiency appropriations.

School aid is given $7,359,012 by the committee for the first year of the biennium and $7,490,624 for the second year. The governor's budget commission recommended $5,550,000 for each of the two years.

A rider in the bill provides that of the first year's appropriation $725,612 shall be used for the payment of the supplemental aid deficiency of 1923, and $663,824 from the second year for the 1924 supplemental school aid deficiency.

New buildings for the St. Cloud and Moorhead teachers' colleges are provided for in appropriations in a second rider. St. Cloud is given $200,000 and Moorhead $160,000.

University of Minnesota appropriations for the first year of the biennium were fixed at $3,325,000, and $3,527,000 for the second year. Here too, a rider was added providing that $76,000 of the second year appropriations shall be used for the construction of a physical education building at the school of agriculture at Morris.

The appropriation measure was immediately given its second reading and was placed at the head of general orders, where it will be acted upon soon.

ITALO-JUGO-SLAV CRISIS NOW NEARING FINAL SETTLEMENT

Paris, March 23.—(UP)—The Italo-Jugo-Slav crisis over Albanian apparently was near settlement today, with the nations of Europe united in a determination to prevent hostilities.

Italy and Jugo-Slavia were understood to be negotiating directly to seek a solution of their squabble over Albanian influence, and France, Britain and Germany withheld action to force mediation in the hope that Rome and Belgrade could find a more permanent solution of the problem if outside influence were avoided.

"There is no reason for worry," Foreign Minister Briand assured the French chamber of deputies. "By normal diplomatic means, we have turned events into a pacific channel."

MOTHER OF ALLEGED BANDIT TO GET SON TO TELL STORY

San Francisco, March 23.—(UP)—Mrs. Bell D'Autremont, mother of Hugh D'Autremont, accused of complicity in the Siskiyou tunnel train dynamiting was to be taken to Alcatraz island to see her boy today. Postal inspectors claim Mrs. D'Autremont has promised them she will attempt to induce her son to "make a clean breast of it" if he is guilty of complicity in the sensational mail train holdup.

PROFESSIONAL WALKER UNABLE TO DODGE NEW YORK TAXI

New York, March 23.—(UP)—Edward Payson Weston, 88-year-old trans-continental walker, who was struck by a taxi on Sunday, was reported improving at St. Vincent's hospital today.

The pedestrian, who walked to the Pacific coast and back when more than 70 years old, received a deep gash on the head.

BANDIT HOLDS UP TRAIN AND OVERLOOKS LOOT

Asheville, N. C., March 23.—(UP)—A bandit held up the Carolina Special, crack train of the Southern railroad, here last night but overlooked the only loot available.

The man boarded the train as it pulled into the city here, forced J. H. McPeters, express messenger, to open his safe and fled at the Asheville station.

A bag in the safe containing $550 and some jewelry was un-molested.

McPeters was slightly injured in a scuffle with the bandit. He suffered a powder burn when the robber's gun was accidentally discharged.

VAGUE CHARGES MADE ABOUT WEEPAH STRIKE

CLAIM THAT IT IS NONE TOO AUTHENTIC, IS PRESENT RUMOR

SAN FRANCISCO PAPERS CLAIM-ED TO QUOTE JOSEPH DERHAM: "IT'S A BUST"

Tonopah, Nev., March 23.—(UP)—Vague charges that the Weepah gold strike is none too authentic came out in the open today.

San Francisco papers, it was learned, have quoted one Joseph Derham as saying the boom is "a colossal bust."

Derham, according to the coast papers, recently returned to San Francisco with the statement that "no competent engineer is permitted to examine any of the ore" and that the only persons in Weepah are those who haven't enough money to get away.

Owners of claims in the sage studded sands near Weepah were indignant, even angry. Frank Horton, Sr., whose son and another youth found the original gold bearing quartz that made Weepah famous overnight, acted as spokesman.

"I have never to my knowledge met Derham and certainly did not refuse to show or anyone else the recent strike," he said. "All of the statements credited to Mr. Derham are false. The mine has been open to inspection to everyone. Even the guards protecting the ore have not refused to show the strike."

But Weepah, in the meantime, continues to expand. It now has a gambling casino, two dance halls, some 200 tent homes and soon will have a daily newspaper.

The "Weepah Scout," will be published by F. P. Garside, owner of the Tonopah Daily Times, he announced. "Always hot on the trail of News" will be the slogan of the paper, Garside said.

One of the greatest difficulties at present concerns the inability of mine owners to keep their miners at work. Every time a new strike is reported—and that is often—the men rush away from the mines to stake new claims.

TERRIFIC BLAST DEMOLISHES HOME; 4 PEOPLE INJURED

Los Angeles, March 24.—(UP)—Four members of a family were seriously injured today when a terrific explosion demolished the home of N. Nickloss.

Nickloss was thrown 40 feet by the blast, caused when he lighted a match to light a gas heater. His wife and two children were severely burned.

The roof of the building was torn off and sections of the side walls collapsed.

JAP GOVERNMENT STEMS IMPENDING FINANCIAL PANIC

London, March 23.—(UP)—The Japanese government today stemmed the impending financial panic, exchange telegraph dispatches said, by promising unconditional support for all banks. Dispatches yesterday reported a serious situation and the failure of five banks within a week.

Americans and Other Foreigners Are Evacuated From Chapei War Area, China

ORIGINAL STORIES WRITTEN CANNOT BE FOUND, STATED

BASIS OF THE MILLION DOLLAR FORD-SAPIRO LIBEL SUIT

EDITOR CAMERON TESTIFIED HE SEARCHED OFFICE WITHOUT RESULTS

By M. D. TRACY (United Press Staff Correspondent) Courtroom, Detroit, Mich., March 23.—Original manuscripts of Harry H. Dunn's story in the Dearborn Independent, basis of the million dollar Ford-Sapiro libel suit, cannot be found, it was revealed in court today.

William J. Cameron, editor of the Dearborn Independent, which is Henry Ford's weekly magazine, testified he had searched his office last night and could not find the documents.

Henry Gallagher, Aaron Sapiro's chief counsel, had demanded production of the manuscripts in court. Presentation of the alleged libels, about half consumed yesterday, was then resumed by Gallagher.

"It may be only a coincidence that the line of agricultural control in this country runs from Otto Kahn and Bernard Baruch (New York financiers) down through Aaron Sapiro and lesser Jews," Gallagher read from the Independent.

"But here is an incident which may throw light on that. Because Aaron Sapiro, when he organized the Colorado Potato Growers, thought Erskine R. Myer spelled his name Meyer and was a Jew, the enterprising young promoter of co-operative associations employed Mr. Myer as attorney for the Colorado Potato Growers."

The defense resumed its policy of objecting to all questions and the court went to great length to explain to the jury that some of the evidence being offered was presented as evidence of libel and some only as evidence of malice. Malice, he said, is a factor in determining the amount of damages.

Under the ruling, an entire article was read to the jury.

Sapiro read the article personally, the first time he had joined in the pleading of his own case. A man of medium stature, dressed neatly in gray, he stood erect in the middle of the courtroom and read rapidly in a clear voice.

The article dealt with the "combination of Jew and radicalism."

It charged that the "vulture had descended" on the $37,000,000 hay crop of Washington, with heavy losses to the farmers.

"If a man will take a map of Idaho, Washington and Oregon," Sapiro read, "and with a supply of red, white and blue pins, and set a red pin wherever there is an outbreak of communism, radicalism and I. W. W.ism, stick a white pin wherever the Jewish farm exploiting association has founded one of its so-called California plan co-operative associations; and put in a blue pin wherever one or more such associations have failed, he will find that he has a set of three pins at each point."

The jury heard Sapiro read detailed charges that the Northwest Hay Growers' Association was mulcted out of large sums; that one of the organizers in the Walla Walla district of Washington was an I. W. W. agent and that the 1923 crop was sold at less than $13 a ton which, the article said, independent growers received for their crop.

It charged radicals employed as co-operative organizers, "hammered weak-kneed farmers" into joining the hay association.

On the basis of last year's figures the treasury will be enriched more than $10,000,000 from car licenses this year. The 1926 total was $9,938,613.

SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION IN ST. LOUIS COUNTY

Duluth, Minn., March 23.—(UP)—Three new schools will be built and three old schools will be remodeled in St. Louis county this summer, it was announced here today following contract awards totalling $140,000.

SPREAD OF FLU ON ARMY BOAT CHECKED AT LAST

San Francisco, March 23.—(UP)—Spread of the influenza epidemic aboard the army transport Chateau Thierry, enroute to San Francisco from the east coast, was checked today, radio advices said.

Although four enlisted men were killed by the disease and 59 others were taken ill, the messages said, no first class passengers were affected and no more cases of influenza were expected.

The transport is due here today, 36 hours ahead of schedule. Thirteen congressmen and nearly five hundred enlisted men are aboard. The stricken soldiers will be cared for at shore hospitals.

The war department announced the dead as:

Private Gordon P. Brown, Westville, Ohio.

Private Grover L. Daniel, Rocky Mount, N. C.

Private Albert C. Johnson, Bennett, Wis.

Private Daniel Seriozo, Bridgeport, Conn.

Washington, March 23.—(UP)—The influenza epidemic aboard the army transport Chateau Thierry, enroute to San Francisco, is under control and 35 cases have been discharged from the ship hospital as cured, according to reports to the war department today.

SECTION OF RIVER LEVEE GIVES WAY

WATER SPREADS OVER LARGE AREA AT LAWRENCEVILLE, ILL.

SEVERAL FARMS UNDER WATER AS FARMERS WORK TO PLUG UP BANKS

Lawrenceville, Ill., March 23.—A section of the river levee at a point three miles north of here gave way today, the water spreading over a large area of farm land and constantly eating its way farther back.

Several farms were under water, but none of the occupants had left their property. Farmers of the neighborhood were working feverishly to plug up the opening and prevent other sections of the wall from going out.

The section that gave way was known as the Kinder levee, maintained by the co-operation of farmers whose lands are adjacent to the river.

The north and south state highway recently opened through here, was flooded. Traffic north of the city on the concrete highway was halted. Crews were working to prevent damage to the road bed.

Break of the Kinder levee relieved the situation here. The river remained at a stage of approximately 23 feet, the same as yesterday. It would have risen considerably but for the break farther north.

The broken river levee is on the Embarras river, which joins the Wash-bash further south.

HALF MILLION MOTORISTS HAVE PAID $8,125,963

St. Paul, March 23.—(UP)—A half million Minnesota motorists have paid $8,125,963 into the state treasury for license fees, according to Mike Holm, secretary of state.

Figures for 1927 indicate a 10 per cent increase in motor licenses over the same date last year. On March 23, 1926, 486,882 car owners paid $7,267,330 into the treasury compared to the more than eight million dollars paid in by 541,951 motorists this year.

On the basis of last year's figures the treasury will be enriched more than $10,000,000 from car licenses this year. The 1926 total was $9,938,613.

ARE TAKEN TO INTERNATIONAL SETTLEMENT

LATEST WAR REPORTS INDICATE CANTONESE HAVE CAPTURED CHINGGIANG

EVACUATING NORTHERN TROOPS LEAVE WRECKED ENGINE IN TUNNEL

By H. FRANCIS MISSELWITZ (United Press Staff Correspondent) Shanghai, March 23.—(6:30 P. M.)—(UP)—More than 450 Americans and other foreigners today were evacuated from the Chapei war area under direction of United States Consul General Edwin S. Cunningham.

The foreigners were brought into the comparative safety of the international settlement.

The steamer Poyang was expected to arrive in the morning with 175 foreign refugees from Nanking and 125 others were expected to arrive soon afterward. About 25 foreigners would remain in Nanking.

Cunningham was too busy, he told the United Press, arranging the evacuation to attend today's conference in which the British, Japanese and French consuls general met the Cantonese commander, General Pei Chung-Shi. No official report of the conference had been made this evening, but the French consul general said the conference was concerned chiefly with Pei's plans for restoring order. The Japanese told the United Press that the conference merely dealt with the disposition of 1,150 disarmed north China soldiers presently interned in the international settlement under Japanese control and at Japanese expense.

It was understood that Pei promised the consuls that he would end the general strike tomorrow. The Cantonese already have begun reorganizing the civil government of the native city and one Chinese had been appointed to the local court.

The Cantonese today captured Chinggiang. The evacuating north-erners left a wrecked engine in the railway tunnel, blocking the Shanghai-Nanking railway.

Today passed comparatively quietly in Shanghai. Refugees continued to pour into the city, which was jammed with tens of thousands sleeping in shops, restaurants or anywhere that shelter offered. Foreigners filled the Y. M. C. A. and private homes and the hotels were packed. The menace of a failing water supply passed today and the plant was operating normally.

Pei issued a proclamation declaring that the nationalists would not use force to achieve their aims but they were planning thorough propaganda concerning the status of the settlements and the so-called "unequal" treaties whereunder foreigners long have enjoyed special privileges, including immunity from Chinese courts.

Reports from Nanking today were conflicting. One report said the Cantonese had fallen back beyond the outskirts of the city.

Shanghai, March 23.—At least 250 persons have been killed in the native Chapei district of Shanghai and possibly as many as 100 in Pootung, the native area south of the river, a check revealed today.

The Chinese Red Cross today was caring for 200 wounded persons in the international settlement.

Washington, March 23.—Admiral C. S. Williams, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, reported to the navy department today that besides the wounding of one marine at Shanghai, two other Americans were reported to have been slightly wounded.

The marine private was struck by a spent bullet while on duty at the customs jetty, and the other two Americans were apparently hit by wild shots fired indiscriminately by Chinese outside the northern boundary of the international settlement.

He reported several British soldiers wounded and many Chinese killed when about 1,000 northern troops (Continued on page 6)

SCIENCE TO TURN TO THE AID OF AGRICULTURE

St. Paul, March 23.—(UP)—Science, so dominant in the progress of industry and commerce, will soon turn to the aid of agriculture, according to Walter Bill Scott, president of Northwestern university, here for a reunion of the Minnesota alumni of the school.

President Scott declared that the sciences, particularly physics, had done much for industrial and commercial progress and would do as much in the farming field when the great university men turned to agriculture.

The Northwestern head also assisted in the laying of the cornerstone for the new $250,000 industrial building at the University of Minnesota.

CONVENTIONAL PLEA, INSANITY, TO BE MADE

CORSET SALESMAN AND MRS. RUTH SNYDER RESCIND CONFESSION

BOTH PLEAD NOT GUILTY TO CHARGE OF MURDERING WOMAN'S HUSBAND

By PAUL W. WHITE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, March 23.—Henry Judd Gray, corset salesman, accused jointly with Mrs. Ruth Snyder of the murder of Albert Snyder, magazine art editor, will fall back on the conventional plea of insanity, it was indicated today as the Jamaica grand jury met to consider the case.

Whether Mrs. Snyder will follow the same course had not been disclosed. Both she and Gray repudiated their confessions when they were arraigned and pleaded not guilty yesterday, but Gray afterwards told his wife, in the presence of witnesses, that he aided in the murder.

Sensational rumors of an added motive for the slaying circulated today. They were that Mrs. Snyder is about to become a mother, and that Gray is the father of the child. She knew her husband would discover her condition and feared the consequences, the report said. It could not be verified.

Haddon Gray and Harry E. Platt of Syracuse, N. Y., where Henry Judd Gray was arrested, were here today in custody of detectives to face the accused slayer. They were implicated by him as having aided in his elaborately framed but useless alibi, but police said there was no intimation that they knew why he wanted the alibi or that they were criminally culpable. Both refused statements. The Grays are friends but are not related.

The hint that Gray would plead insanity was first made by Mrs. Gray after she had visited her husband in jail. He told her he helped kill Snyder, and then the couple whispered for a few minutes. After she returned to her East Orange, N. J., home, Mrs. Gray gave out a statement saying that her husband must have been insane when he committed the crime.

Samuel L. Miller, attorney, who said he had been retained by Mrs. Gray to defend her husband, later admitted he was considering hiring alienists, but declined to admit that an insanity defense was planned.

Mrs. Snyder's attorneys refused to discuss their plans. They were bitter in court yesterday in their denunciation of police methods in obtaining Mrs. Snyder's confession, and held it was void because it was obtained under duress.

Gray's attorneys advanced the same plea, but Gray later told his wife the police had treated him "like a gentleman."

Because her nerves are shattered and she is on the verge of a complete physical collapse from sleeplessness, Mrs. Snyder today was refused permission by her counsel to attend the burial of her husband.

Edgar Hazelton, representing Mrs. Snyder, said she had begged to be allowed to go, but he advised against it, fearing the effect on her rapidly vanishing morale.

NO GOLF CLUBS, TENNIS RACKETS FOR EXECUTIVE

ROD AND LINE WILL BE PRINCIPAL AND MOST IMPORTANT SPORTING IMPLEMENT

PRESIDENT'S PHILOSOPHIC MIND WELL ADAPTED TO PISCATORIAL DELIGHTS

Washington, March 23.—Two prospective summer White House sites in the Minnesota lake region were offered to President Coolidge today by representatives Newton and Knutson, republicans, Minnesota.

Newton offered the president the Mrs. Walter Douglas estate on Lake Minnetonka, 15 miles from Minneapolis, while Knutson offered the Breezy Point Lodge of Capt. W. H. Fawcett at Pequot, Minn.

The Douglas estate is near Excelsior, where extensive accommodations would be provided for the president's retinue, Newton said. Mrs. Douglas is the widow of a Minneapolis capitalist.

The Fawcett estate is 125 miles north of Minneapolis on Big Pelican Lake, nine miles long and four miles wide. Fawcett was head of the American rifle team at the Olympic games in Paris two years ago.

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, March 23.—President Coolidge intends to spend his summer vacation fishing.

There will be no golf clubs, tennis rackets, or mechanical horses in Mr. Coolidge's luggage when he starts west for his two month rest about June 23. The rod and line will be the principal and most important sporting implement.

Mr. Coolidge has made no secret of his fishing intentions to White House callers who have deluged him with invitations; some carrying alluring pictures of large estates, with lavish interior decorations, tennis courts, swimming pools and golf links. But the first question Mr. Coolidge asks of them is how far is the nearest trout stream and is the fishing good around there.

The president did his first fishing since boyhood at his New York state camp last summer, and from the first moment he cast a line he was a success. A few months before that he had dropped some remarks which were interpreted as meaning that fishing was a boy's pastime.

This drew alarm from national associations of anglers and fishing magazines, and the president, perhaps to prove he was misinterpreted, proceeded to go fishing. Since then it has become his chief sport.

Taking their cue, his prospective hosts have filled him with stories about how the fish jump up and bite the hook in their respective communities between Michigan and the Rocky Mountains.

When the secret service men go out to inspect the preferred sites their first duty will be to find out how fishy these stories are and just what chance the president has to rival Isaac Walton this summer.

ACCUSED OF SLAYING HER TWO INFANT CHILDREN WITH POISON

Salt Lake City, Utah, March 23.—(UP)—Accused of slaying her two infant children with poison, Mrs. Bernhardt Peterson today was held on first degree murder charges.

The charges were filed after a commission of alienists yesterday found that Mrs. Peterson was legally sane.

She confessed that several weeks ago she put poison in a stew she served for the family dinner. Her husband and two older children refused to eat the stew because of its bitter taste.

The two babies, one two years old and the other eighteen months, died of convulsions. Mrs. Peterson did not confess to their murder until she attended the double funeral and when she became hysterical and broke down.

SECTION OF RIVER LEVEE GIVES WAY

WATER SPREADS OVER LARGE AREA AT LAWRENCEVILLE, ILL.

SEVERAL FARMS UNDER WATER AS FARMERS WORK TO PLUG UP BANKS

Lawrenceville, Ill., March 23.—A section of the river levee at a point three miles north of here gave way today, the water spreading over a large area of farm land and constantly eating its way farther back.

Several farms were under water, but none of the occupants had left their property. Farmers of the neighborhood were working feverishly to plug up the opening and prevent other sections of the wall from going out.

The section that gave way was known as the Kinder Levee, maintained by the co-operation of farmers whose lands are adjacent to the river.

The north and south state highway recently opened through here, was flooded. Traffic north of the city on the concrete highway was halted. Crews were working to prevent damage to the road bed.

Break of the Kinder Levee relieved the situation here. The river remained at a stage of approximately 23 feet, the same as yesterday. It would have risen considerably but for the break farther north.

The broken river levee is on the Embarras river, which joins the Wabash further south.

HALF MILLION MOTORISTS HAVE PAID $8,125,963

St. Paul, March 23.—(UP)—A half million Minnesota motorists have paid $8,125,963 into the state treasury for license fees, according to Mike Holm, secretary of state.

Figures for 1927 indicate a 10 per cent increase in motor licenses over the same date last year. On March 23, 1926, 486,882 car owners paid $7,267,330 into the treasury compared to the more than eight million dollars paid in by 541,051 motorists this year.

On the basis of last year's figures the treasury will be enriched more than $10,000,000 from car licenses this year. The 1926 total was $9,938,613.

ARE TAKEN TO INTERNATIONAL SETTLEMENT

LATEST WAR REPORTS INDICATE CANTONESE HAVE CAPTURED CHINGGIANG

EVACUATING NORTHERN TROOPS LEAVE WRECKED ENGINE IN TUNNEL

By H. FRANCIS MISSELWITZ (United Press Staff Correspondent) Shanghai, March 23.—(6:30 P. M.)—(UP)—More than 450 Americans and other foreigners today were evacuated from the Chapei war area under direction of United States Consul General Edwin S. Cunningham. The foreigners were brought into the comparative safety of the international settlement.

The steamer Poyang was expected to arrive in the morning with 175 foreign refugees from Nanking and 125 others were expected to arrive soon afterward. About 25 foreigners would remain in Nanking.

Cunningham was too busy, he told the United Press, arranging the evacuation to attend today's conference in which the British, Japanese and French consuls general met the Cantonese commander, General Pei Chung-Shi. No official report of the conference had been made this evening, but the French consul general said the conference was concerned chiefly with Pei's plans for restoring order. The Japanese told the United Press that the conference merely deals with the disposition of 1,150 disarmed north China soldiers presently interned in the international settlement under Japanese control and at Japanese expense.

It was understood that Peo promised the consuls that he would end the general strike tomorrow. The Cantonese already have begun reorganizing the civil government of the native city and one Chinese had been appointed to the local court.

The Cantonese today captured Chinggiang. The evacuating northeners left a wrecked engine in the railway tunnel, blocking the Shanghai-Nanking railway.

Today passed comparatively quietly in Shanghai. Refugees continued to pour into the city, which was jammed with tens of thousands sleeping in shops, restaurants or anywhere where shelter offered. Foreigners filled the Y. M. C. A. and private homes and the hotels were packed. The menace of a failing water supply passed today and the plant was operating normally.

Pei issued a proclamation declaring that the nationalists would not use force to achieve their aims but they were planning thorough propaganda concerning the status of the settlements and the so-called "unequal" treaties whereunder foreigners long have enjoyed special privileges, including immunity from Chinese courts.

Reports from Nanking today were conflicting. One report said the Cantonese had fallen back beyond the outskirts of the city.

Shanghai, March 23.—At least 250 persons have been killed in the native Chapei district of Shanghai and possibly as many as 100 in Pootung, the native area south of the river, a check revealed today.

The Chinese Red Cross today was caring for 200 wounded persons in the international settlement.

Washington, March 23.—Admiral C. S. Williams, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, reported to the navy department today that besides the wounding of one marine at Shanghai, two other Americans were reported to have been slightly wounded.

The marine private was struck by a spent bullet while on duty at the customs jetty, and the other two Americans were apparently hit by wild shots fired indiscriminately by Chinese outside the northern boundary of the international settlement.

Edgar Hazelton, representing Mrs. Snyder, said she had begged to be allowed to go, but he advised against it, fearing the effect on her rapidly vanishing morale.

SCIENCE TO TURN TO THE AID OF AGRICULTURE

St. Paul, March 23.—(UP)—Science, so dominant in the progress of industry and commerce, will soon turn to the aid of agriculture, according to Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern university, here for a reunion of the Minnesota alumni of the school.

President Scott declared that the sciences, particularly physics, had done much for industrial and commercial progress and would do as much in the farming field when the great university men turned to agriculture.

The Northwestern head also assisted in the laying of the cornerstone for the new $250,000 industrial building at the University of Minnesota.

CONVENTIONAL PLEA, INSANITY, TO BE MADE

CORSET SALESMAN AND MRS. RUTH SNYDER RESCIND CONFESSION

BOTH PLEAD NOT GUILTY TO CHARGE OF MURDERING WOMAN'S HUSBAND

By PAUL W. WHITE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, March 23.—Henry Judd Gray, corset salesman, accused jointly with Mrs. Ruth Snyder of the murder of Albert Snyder, magazine art editor, will fall back on the conventional plea of insanity, it was indicated today as the Jamaica grand jury met to consider the case.

Whether Mrs. Snyder will follow the same course had not been disclosed. Both she and Gray repudiated their confessions when they were arraigned yesterday, but Gray afterwards told his wife, in the presence of witnesses, that he aided in the murder.

Sensational rumors of an added motive for the slaying circulated today. They were that Mrs. Snyder is about to become a mother, and that Gray is the father of the child. She knew her husband would discover her condition and feared the consequences, the report said. It could not be verified.

Haddon Gray and Harry E. Platt of Syracuse, N. Y., where Henry Judd Gray was arrested, were here today in custody of detectives to face the accused slayer. They were implicated by him as having aided in his elaborately framed but useless alibi, but police said there was no intimation that they knew why he wanted the alibi or that they were criminally culpable. Both refused statements. The Grays are friends but are not related.

The hint that Gray would plead insanity was first made by Mrs. Gray after she had visited her husband in jail. He told her he helped kill Snyder, and then the couple whispered for a few minutes. After she returned to her East Orange, N. J., home, Mrs. Gray gave out a statement saying that her husband must have been insane when he committed the crime.

Samuel L. Miller, attorney, who said he had been retained by Mrs. Gray to defend her husband, later admitted he was considering hiring alienists, but declined to admit that an insanity defense was planned.

Mrs. Snyder's attorneys refused to discuss their plans. They were bitter in court yesterday in their denunciation of police methods in obtaining Mrs. Snyder's confession, and held it was void because it was obtained under duress.

Gray's attorneys advanced the same plea, but Gray later told his wife the police had treated him "like a gentleman."

Because her nerves are shattered and she is on the verge of a complete physical collapse from sleeplessness, Mrs. Snyder today was refused permission by her counsel to attend the burial of her husband.

Edgar Hazelton, representing Mrs. Snyder, said she had begged to be allowed to go, but he advised against it, fearing the effect on her rapidly vanishing morale.

NO GOLF CLUBS, TENNIS RACKETS FOR EXECUTIVE

ROD AND LINE WILL BE PRINCIPAL AND MOST IMPORTANT SPORTING IMPLEMENT

PRESIDENT'S PHILOSOPHIC MIND WELL ADAPTED TO PISCATORIAL DELIGHTS

Washington, March 23.—Two prospective summer White House sites in the Minnesota lake region were offered to President Coolidge today by representatives Newton and Knutson, republicans, Minnesota.

Newton offered the president the Mrs. Walter Douglas estate on Lake Minnetonka, 15 miles from Minneapolis, while Knutson offered the Breezy Point Lodge of Capt. W. H. Fawcett at Pequot, Minn.

The Douglas estate is near Excelsior, where extensive accommodations would be provided for the president's retinue, Newton said. Mrs. Douglas is the widow of a Minneapolis capitalist.

The Fawcett estate is 125 miles north of Minneapolis on Big Pelican Lake, nine miles long and four miles wide. Fawcett was head of the American rifle team at the Olympic games in Paris two years ago.

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, March 23.—President Coolidge intends to spend his summer vacation fishing.

There will be no golf clubs, tennis rackets, or mechanical horses in Mr. Coolidge's luggage when he starts west for his two month rest about June 23. The rod and line will be the principal and most important sporting implement.

Mr. Coolidge has made no secret of his fishing intentions to White House callers who have deluged him with invitations; some carrying alluring pictures of large estates, with lavish interior decorations, tennis courts, swimming pools and golf links. But the first question Mr. Coolidge asks of them is how far is the nearest trout stream and is the fishing good around there.

The president did his first fishing since boyhood at his New York state camp last summer, and from the first moment he cast a line he was a success. A few months before that he had dropped some remarks which were interpreted as meaning that fishing was a boy's pastime.

This drew alarm from national associations of anglers and fishing magazines, and the president, perhaps to prove he was misinterpreted, proceeded to go fishing. Since then it has become his chief sport.

Taking their cue, his prospective hosts have filled him with stories about how the fish jump up and bite the hook in their respective communities between Michigan and the Rocky Mountains.

When the secret service men go out to inspect the preferred sites their first duty will be to find out how fishy these stories are and just what chance the president has to rival Isaac Walton this summer.

ACCUSED OF SLAYING HER TWO INFANT CHILDREN WITH POISON

Salt Lake City, Utah, March 23.—(UP)—Accused of slaying her two infant children with poison, Mrs. Bernhardt Peterson today was held on first degree murder charges.

The charges were filed after a commission of alienists yesterday found that Mrs. Peterson was legally sane.

She confessed that several weeks ago she put poison in a stew she served for the family dinner. Her husband and two older children refused to eat the stew because of its bitter taste.

The two babies, one two years old and the other eighteen months, died of convulsions. Mrs. Peterson did not confess to their murder until she attended the double funeral and when she became hysterical and broke down.

Mrs. Goldberg clearly enjoyed the letters, but her only comment was, "Let's keep them in suspense."

CHARGES FRAUD IN SALE OF HOUSE

Los Angeles, March 23.—(UP)—The $50,000 Mae Murray, screen actress, paid for her home was just $29,300 too much, she declares in suit for that amount against the sellers of the property.

The complaint, filed yesterday, charged Jack Donovan, artist, Jeanette Donovan and others with fraud in the sale of the house. The defendants took advantage of Miss Murray by calling her "endearing" terms which aided them in disposing of the home to her at much too high a price, the complaint added.

Furthermore, according to Miss Murray, the "genuine antique" furniture in the house was merely "cheap imitation."

CHARGES FRAUD IN SALE OF HOUSE

Los Angeles, March 23.—(UP)—The $50,000 Mae Murray, screen actress, paid for her home was just $29,300 too much, she declares in suit for that amount against the sellers of the property.

The complaint, filed yesterday, charged Jack Donovan, artist, Jeanette Donovan and others with fraud in the sale of the house. The defendants took advantage of Miss Murray by calling her "endearing" terms which aided them in disposing of the home to her at much too high a price, the complaint added.

Furthermore, according to Miss Murray, the "genuine antique" furniture in the house was merely "cheap imitation."

Northeast Brainerd Improvement League Campaigns for Third Ward

Away with the rubbish piles. Banish the plague spots. Clean up the streets and alleys. Cut the weeds, mow the lawns and trim the hedges. Repair and paint every building that needs it!

At the meeting of the Northeast Brainerd Improvement League held last evening in the Lowell school the week of April 18-23 was set aside as "clean-up and paint-up" week for N. E. Brainerd. Ambition in its highest conception is to dream big things and make them come true. The splendid ambition to have a city clean and beautiful is hoped soon to be made a reality by the co-operation of all the people in the third ward. Members of the league feel that a thorough cleaning and renovation is the sensible thing to do for the health, safety, thrift, pride and happiness of the city and every man, woman and child will be asked to help in the campaign. Aid will be solicited from the Parent Teacher's associations and school children.

Northeast Brainerd has often been termed among the cleanest spots in the city and the vigorous weekly campaign that will be conducted from April 18-23 is expected to make the third ward a model part of Brainerd.

Oscar E. Swanson of the street and boulevard committee was appointed general chairman of "Paint-up and Clean-up" week and will be assisted by the chairmen of other committees who with the president will form an advisory committee. Sub-committees will be appointed later.

President Albert O. Anderson presided and the reports of various committees were heard and accepted.

Edward Elling and Walter Stein, representatives of the N. E. baseball team appeared before the league and outlined plans for the carnival to be given April 1 at the Lowell school. Proceeds from the entertainment will go toward purchasing new coat sweaters for members of the team, monograms for caps and other necessary equipment. The N. E. team were city champions last year and are ambitious to capture the trophy again. The league voted hearty endorsement to all activities of the team.

The letter received from President Calvin Coolidge in answer to the League's endorsement of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway was read.

A report was made on the extension of the water mains to the Mill district and progress was noted.

The League complimented the citizens of Southeast Brainerd on the stand and attitude they took regarding the pool room question and on the views expressed regarding it.

Considerable discussion was held over the proposed amendment to the city charter dividing the second ward and making six wards for the city. The league urged everyone to get out and vote for the passing of the amendment.

Hugo A. Kaatz of the Park Board spoke on the amendment giving the park board an additional 1/4 mill for park purposes. The present amendment became effective in 1925 when 3-4 mill was set aside for park purposes. At that time, Gregory square was the only park, whereas now, the board is required to care for Gregory park, Lum park and its additional 26 acres besides the street boulevards in the northern part of the city. The board has put all buildings in excellent shape and has kept the parks in first class condition and more money is needed to keep up the good work.

Lum park has proven a very popular playground for the younger element and the new addition is being cleared and perfected for use this summer. Mr. Kaatz also mentioned the fact that three years ago Leon E. Lum of Duluth, donor of the park, was offered $2,000 for the land adjoining, but refused it claiming that the plot should be kept intact and should be left for park purposes. He later donated the tract to the city of Brainerd.

NEBRASKA IS AMBITIOUS FOR POLITICAL MEETINGS

Omaha, Neb., March 22.—(UP)—Civic and political leaders of Nebraska today were working to bring both the republican and democratic national conventions to Omaha in 1928.

The choice of the democrats lies between Denver and Omaha, with Omaha a favorite, according to Arthur Mullen, democratic national committeeman for Nebraska who has had the convention city matter up with other leaders for several weeks.

Gov. Adam McMullen in Lincoln said he was "doing his bit" to induce republican national leaders to consider Omaha as their national meeting place in 1928.

Silk fur coats are popular again this year. Those made of antelope, kid, caracul, of leopard skin, gazelle or pony are particularly good. These are not necessarily expensive coats. ### HEDDA HOYT TELLS— ABOUT SPRING COATS

By HEDDA HOYT

New York, March 22.—(UP)—Hundreds of fashionably dressed women in New York, encouraged by recent Springlike days, have forsaken their fur wraps and are appearing in new Spring coats and hats. On Sunday afternoon Fifth Avenue is especially festive in coloring.

The extensive use of beige tones in wraps, gowns, hats and accessories was noted all along the upper part of the Avenue. Beige coats trimmed in ombre lapin, ermine or beige fox were numerous. These were matched in most instances by beige felt hats which offered a change from the brighter felts of red and green which we've been accustomed to.

There are three distinct beige tones which are important this season: Golden beige, banana beige and bisque beige. Bisque and Golden beige are most apparent at present although it is thought that the banana beige tones will be more popular as Summer approaches.

Even women who are still clinging to fur wraps are brightening their costumes by using Spring millinery. Blue felt hats in the light shades are favored by many of the younger women. Queen blue and softer grayish blues are much in evidence. Greenish blues are also noted. Very few straw hats of color have appeared to date although black straws are seen everywhere. The tendency among smart women seems to be to cling to felts as long as possible. The most popular hat worn by youthful women is the skull cap which dips in tabs over the ears. Recent models have very long pointed ear tabs with a tiny dip at the

Among the loveliest of in-between season coats are those of velvet with borders of self-colored beaded embroidery. ## HEDDA HOYT TELLS— ABOUT SPRING COATS

By HEDDA HOYT
New York, March 23.—(UP)—Hundreds of fashionably dressed women in New York, encouraged by recent Springlike days, have forsaken their fur wraps and are appearing in new Spring coats and hats. On Sunday afternoon Fifth Avenue is especially festive in coloring.

The extensive use of beige tones in wraps, gowns, hats and accessories was noted all along the upper part of the Avenue. Beige coats trimmed in ombre lapin, ermine or beige fox were numerous. These were matched in most instances by beige felt hats which offered a change from the brighter felts of red and green which we've been accustomed to.

There are three distinct beige tones which are important this season: Golden beige, banana beige and bisque beige. Bisque and Golden beige are most apparent at present although it is thought that the banana beige tones will be more popular as Summer approaches.

Even women who are still clinging to fur wraps are brightening their costumes by using Spring millinery. Blue felt hats in the light shades are favored by many of the younger women. Queen blue and softer grayish blues are much in evidence. Greenish blues are also noted. Very few straw hats of color have appeared to date although black straws are seen everywhere. The tendency among smart women seems to be to cling to felts as long as possible. The most popular hat worn by youthful women is the skull cap which dips in tabs over the ears. Recent models have very long pointed ear tabs with a tiny dip at the back of the neck which follows the hair line.

Among the loveliest of in-between season coats are those of velvet with borders of self-colored beaded embroidery. One very lovely Valencia blue velvet model beaded in self-color was matched by a small blue skull cap. The headwork was concentrated about the border of the hem line and upon the wide shawl collar.

AFRICAN EXPLORER FALLS OVEBOARD AND IS DROWNED

San Diego, Calif., March 22.—(UP)—Falling overboard during a storm off the Mexican coast William S. Cherry, African explorer, passenger aboard the steamer Manchuria, was drowned. It was learned here today.

The Manchuria put into San Diego last Friday from New York and Panama but the accident was not revealed until today.

Cherry had acquired world wide attention as the discoverer of three hitherto unknown types of natives in Africa.

His home was in Pasadena, Calif.

AMERICA PAYING OFF ITS WAR BILL

THE astonishing ability of the United States to absorb even a war is forcibly illustrated in the latest figures published on the subject of the national debt.

On June 30, 1919, the gross debt of the United States was $25,482,000,000.

By June 30, 1927, it will have fallen to $17,794,000,000.

By June 30, 1949, if the program to which the United States is now committed is carried out, it will have been wiped out completely.

In precisely eight years the United States will have retired better than $7,500,000,000 of its national debt. This is running along roughly at the rate of a billion dollars a year. It may be noted that during that time the income taxes have been progressively lowered and that, during the latter part of the period, no real pinch has been felt by the American people.

If the debts owed the United States by the European nations were sound assets, the United States could balance a sum of about $10,000,000,000 against $17,000,000,000, and declare that it was already within $7,000,000,000 of being clear on the war account. The debts owed the United States do not, of course, represent sound assets, though they may be worth something. The best thing for the United States to do is to ignore them, and consider that it still has another $17,000,000,000 to pay before it has written the war off. Prior to America's entrance into the war, our national debt was slightly less than three quarters of a billion dollars. Hence it may be said that the war cost the United States approximately twenty-four and a half billion dollars in capital outlay.

The American achievement, then, has been little short of stupendous. If we assume that loans made by the United States are practically worthless, the fact still remains that the United States has paid off close to a third of its war indebtedness. Present plans contemplate removing the remainder of the debt by easy stages—painlessly, so to speak. The retirement plans evolved by Secretary Mellon would give the debt a further lease of life of 22 years. Within ten years, and almost without effort, the United States will have paid off a sum equal to the sum which, it is claimed, is far beyond Europe's capacity to meet in 62 years. Even if the United States has to pay Europe's 10 billion dollars share of the 24½ billion dollar gross bill, it will do so in comparatively short order and with comparatively little grief.—Minneapolis Tribune.

PLAYS FOR THE HOME FOLKS

SLIGHT, winsome, piquant, Miss Alice Regina Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Johnson, of our city, like Marion Talley, came home to her people and at Clara Lutheran church last night, before a large and appreciative audience, played a wonderful program, displaying her ability as a pianist, and the range of her selections evidenced in no small measure her commanding technique, her artistic and poetic interpretations and especially the brilliantly singing tone she has mastered, molding the melody of the keys in such fashion that harmonies rippled in dazzling shafts like sunshine playing in the splashing brooks, like the witching tracery of zephyrs, and again with sonorous, bass chords sounding the call of battle in the Sonata Eroica of MacDowell.

Miss Johnson's technique and expression reached its greatest heights in Liszt's Rigoletto Paraphrase. Harmonic intricacies, chords and runs were surmounted with the ease of the greatest master.

Coupled with her beautiful playing is that poise which can only be gained by the self assurance of constant study, of frequent appearances before critical audiences.

A pleasing tribute was her encore of a Chopin melody, Prelude A, played for her first instructor in Brainerd, Mrs. W. A. M. Johnstone.

Rev. August Samuelson, in glowing introduction, voiced the pride Brainerd feels in a daughter who has gained success in her field, in the world of music, and assuring her of a brilliant future.

Her instruction at Chicago, including a course at the American Conservatory of Music, followed by further study with Kurt Wanieck, has made her one of the finest pianists, one who drew rapturous applause when she appeared as a soloist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

Miss Johnson has adopted the Chautauqua method of acquainting her audiences with the composer's ideas regarding his work and what motif is interpreted.

Her program was well selected. Gifted with a prodigious memory and a photographic mind, Miss Johnson quickly memorizes the score, and then is able to throw heart and soul and personality into her interpretations.

NECKTIE FLOOD AT BEMIDJI

As recorded in the Bemidji Daily Pioneer, a flood of ties has struck Bemidji. "The mails," continues the Pioneer, "were flooded with packages of neckties of a type that could easily be matched at any store in Bemidji for less money. Accompanying the ties was a pathetic appeal presumably from a 'blind' man. According to previous newspaper stories from other cities the matter has been investigated, the whole plan is but a scheme of a manufacturer."

"Many of the local recipients are returning the ties with a C. O. D. charge of 25 cents for 'packing'. This has proven to be an effective stop signal in other cases. Some of the professional men might try the plan of the Austin doctor who returned a prescription, price $1.25, which balanced the account. Persons who retain the ties and send the money will indeed be 'saps', since the ties can easily be duplicated at the local stores at less cost," concludes the Pioneer.

This style of forcing merchandise on people who never ordered it and expecting payment for same, or else expecting people to examine the stuff and repack and remail it, is not legitimate business.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, college student, gets work as a dancing partner for rich women in a New Jersey roadhouse. There he meets the prettiest, sweetest girl he has ever laid eyes on—Sally Smith, the cigarette girl. Reciprocating his interest, she warns him against the mysterious and beautiful Mrs. Hammond, habitue of the Inn, who finds her "thrill" in "hunting" Bob for her loveliest apartment. Mrs. Smith, meeting Bob, is hostile; favoring Manning, a rich suitor. Mrs. Hammond tells Bob she frequents the Inn only as a writer secretly in search of color.

CHAPTER XII—Continued

Bob was quite overwhelmed by Mrs. Hammond's long explanation of her "playing"; and flattered, of course, at the apparent extent of her interest and trust in him.

"It's nice of you, Della, to tell me all this," he said earnestly.

"I did so because I like you; because I know your talents, your mind, are much above the ordinary," she smiled.

During all this conversation they had been alternately dancing and resting at Mrs. Hammond's table. Bob had the feeling that a great lead had been lifted from his chest. That a most wonderful thing had happened to him. He believed Mrs. Hammond implicitly. There could, indeed, be small grounds to doubt the sincerity in her low-pitched voice, in her anxious manner. It surely was a grand thing for him to have found so influential a friend. It was lucky he had not credited too much the catty quips of the women about Mrs. Hammond; the wisecracks of his chums. Della Hammond was far and away too good to be spoken of in the same breath as most of the people around here.

Excepting Sally, of course. Enraptured though he was by the

"Please be sure to explain to Bob!"

Revelations of Mrs. Hammond, Bob had not neglected to pay constant tribute to pretty little Sally, in the way of admiring smiles, caressing smiles, all sorts of smiles, and now and again when the chance offered in passing, whispered words of endearment.

Mrs. Hammond had observed these last things with a beautifully modulated smile masking the hatred in her heart; the frustrated, longing, passion in her blood. She had even essayed a complimentary word or two about Sally. That was part of her scheme.

There was also another part of her scheme that struck from an unseen, unsuspected angle. Acting upon secret instructions from Mrs. Hammond, the all-wise Madame Leonine, about an hour before the usual closing time, called Sally to her.

"Listen, honey," she said, "Mazie Revere is throwing a party tonight, see, and I want you to go to her house for me right away with a message. That's a dear. I'll make it square with you."

"But," protested Sally, "I've a date to ride home with Bob Ward."

"Oh, Bob won't mind when he knows you're doing an errand for me. I'll see Bob after this dance is over, and explain to him. Leave Bob to me, honey. I'll set him straight. But you've got to hurry, honey; Mazie is waiting. Please, run right along."

Madame Leonine had a way with her; why little Sally Smith was quite overruled by the aggressiveness of her employer, and before she knew it was bundled off on her way to Mazie's. She tried to catch Bob's eye before she had been hustled into the dressing room, willy nilly, by the Madame; but Bob was dancing. Departing through the side door, she had not had another chance to see him.

"Please be sure to explain to Bob!" Sally cautioned the Madame, in leaving.

"I will!" Madame Leonine promised easily.

Then Sally was gone. Bob missed her quaint figure from among the crowded tables presently, but thought nothing of it for the time being.

Another dance started.

"Bob," said Mrs. Hammond suddenly, "I've been busily thinking over ways and means to help you best, according to the sort of help I can give. I can't very well explain it to you now. You really must ride home with me tonight. I can go over it with you on the way."

"Sorry, Della, really I am, but I've a date to take Sally Smith home. You wouldn't want me to run out on that, would you?"

"I'll be disappointed if you don't place your future above such silly little things as a date with Sally Smith, Bob!" she said earnestly, and in such a reproachful way that Bob felt not a little sheepish.

"It isn't that I put the date ahead of more serious things," he tried to explain, but without even convincing himself, "but I hate to break appointments."

Mrs. Hammond said nothing to that; but just contrived to look towards disappointed and impatient Bob felt very dumb and guilty.

After the dance, he excused himself to Mrs. Hammond and went in search of Sally. A brief glimpse of her dear face would reassure him in his course. Her absence had become noticeable. He looked for her unavailingly. He questioned Freddy and Arch. No; they had not seen her. He anxiously sought out Madame Leonine, who said, with her mechanical and frozen sort of smile:

"Sally? Oh, Sally left a little while ago, Bob. Said she had to get home early. Date or something."

"Did—did she leave any message for me?" Bob was hurt.

"No, Bob!"

Off in the gaudily embowered orchestra platform, the jazzy strains of the last dance were beginning. Bob hurried to Mrs. Hammond.

"Della," he said as they danced away upon the glassy boards, "I'll ride home with you tonight, if you still want me to!"

CHAPTER XIII

They were in the cozy interior of Mrs. Hammond's imported limousine: Bob's strong, heavy young body sunken luxuriously into seat pillows of a softness and beauty that had never been more than a remote fancy to him heretofore; Mrs. Hammond's aristocratic figure gracefully disposed, with crossed legs that subtly displayed an exquisite ankle and calf, and—just as subtly!—modestly covered the knee.

She rode in that gorgeous coach of wealth as one to the purple manner born; as Cleopatra of old must have sat upon her Nile barge.

Bob rode unbelievably—as one to the bus and subway born!

The chauffeur was shut off from them by a thick glass partition. This chauffeur, anyway, Bob noted, was an automaton, a Robot, and hardly a thinking or interested human being. He was a perfect chauffeur.

Now and then, when the exigencies of traffic or road conditions were too much for even the marvelous springs of this marvelous car to take up entirely, Mrs. Hammond would cleverly manage even a sway so that she could accidentally brush Bob's hand, or arm, or shoulder. In each of those thrilling momentary contacts she lived a lifetime. It was genuinely difficult to control her impulses, her fevers, now that she was so intimately situated with her big boy prey. He was her Adonis, and she wanted to be Venus. But Venus was a crude and vulgar creature compared to Mrs. Hammond. Venus had no self-control. Mrs. Hammond had magnificent self-control.

Inwardly she reveled in her thrill. Outwardly she sat serene and rather haughty.

The great car fled noiselessly, like a chariot on air, through the Palisade hinterland, and later threaded pantherlike through the jungle of Manhattan's traffic.

Sometime during the trip across the Fort Lee Ferry, Mrs. Hammond had diffidently broached the subject which Bob was dying to hear, though from sheer politeness he had foreborne to question her.

"It's awfully hard for me to talk this over with a chap like you, Bob, for several reasons. In the first place, your inexperience with life no doubt makes you suspicious of all women; and in the second place, I am sure that the people at the Palisado Inn have poisoned your mind against me—" she said softly.

"No one can poison my mind against you, Della," he interrupted with the hot loyalty of youth. "I think you're a square shooter, and that's all that counts!"

Mrs. Hammond smiled to herself to see how easily he had stepped into the trap of her pre-arranged

Peru, Ind., March 22.—(UP)—Preparations were made today by officials of the American Circus corporation to transport hundreds of wild animals to safety if flood waters rise higher around circus winter headquarters here.

Overflowing water of the Wabash and Mississippi rivers at noon had crept to within a few inches of the barn where the animals, belonging to the Sells-Floto and Hagenback-Wallace circuses, were quartered. The menagerie is valued at nearly a million dollars and includes the largest collection of feline animals in America as well as a herd of thirty elephants.

Revelations of Mrs. Hammond, Bob had not neglected to pay constant tribute to pretty little Sally. In the way of admiring smiles, caressing smiles, all sorts of smiles, and now and again when the chance offered in passing, whispered words of endearment.

Mrs. Hammond had observed these last things with a beautifully modulated smile masking the hatred in her heart; the frustrated, longing, passion in her blood. She had even essayed a complimentary word or two about Sally. That was part of her scheme.

There was also another part of her scheme that struck from an unseen, unsuspected angle. Acting upon secret instructions from Mrs. Hammond, the all-wise Madame Leonine, about an hour before the usual closing time, called Sally to her.

"Listen, honey," she said, "Mazie Revere is throwing a party tonight, see, and I want you to go to her house for me right away with a message. That's a dear. I'll make it square with you."

"But," protested Sally, "I've a date to ride home with Bob Ward." "Oh, Bob won't mind when he knows you're doing an errand for me. I'll see Bob after this dance is over, and explain to him. Leave Bob to me, honey. I'll set him straight. But you've got to hurry, honey; Mazie is waiting. Please, run right along."

Madame Leonine had a way with her; why little Sally Smith was quite overruled by the aggressive ways of her employer, and before she knew it was bundled off on her way to Mazie's. She tried to catch Bob's eye before she had been hustled into the dressing room, willy nilly, by the Madame; but Bob was dancing. Departing through the side door, she had not had another chance to see him.

"Please be sure to explain to Bob!" Sally cautioned the Madame, in leaving.

"I will!" Madame Leonine promised easily.

Then Sally was gone. Bob missed her quaint figure from among the crowded tables presently, but thought nothing of it for the time being.

Another dance started.

"Bob," said Mrs. Hammond suddenly, "I've been busily thinking over ways and means to help you best, according to the sort of help I can give. I can't very well explain it to you now. You really must ride home with me tonight. I can go over it with you on the way."

"Sorry, Della, really I am, but I've a date to take Sally Smith home. You wouldn't want me to run out on that, would you?"

"I'll be disappointed if you don't place your future above such silly little things as a date with Sally Smith, Bob!" she said earnestly, and in such a reproachful way that Bob felt not a little sheepish.

"It isn't that I put the date ahead of more serious things," he tried to explain, but without even convincing himself, "but I hate to break appointments."

Mrs. Hammond said nothing to that; but just contrived to look inwardly disappointed and impatient. Bob felt very dumb and guilty.

After the dance, he excused himself to Mrs. Hammond and went in search of Sally. A brief glimpse of her dear face would reassure him in his course. Her absence had become noticeable. He looked for her unavailingly. He questioned Freddy and Arch. No; they had not seen her. He anxiously sought out Madame Leonine, who said, with her mechanical and frozen sort of smile:

"Sally? Oh, Sally left a little while ago. Bob, said she had to get home early. Date or something."

"Did—did she leave any message for me?" Bob was hurt.

"No, Bob!"

Off in the gaudily embowered orchestra platform, the jazzy strains of the last dance were beginning. Bob hurried to Mrs. Hammond.

"Della," he said as they danced away upon the glassy boards, "I'll ride home with you tonight, if you still want me to!"

CHAPTER XIII

They were in the cozy interior of Mrs. Hammond's imported limousine: Bob's strong, heavy young body sunken luxuriously into seat pillows of a softness and beauty that had never been more than a remote fancy to him heretofore; Mrs. Hammond's aristocratic figure gracefully disposed, with crossed legs that subtly displayed an exquisite ankle and calf, and—just as subtly—modestly covered the knee. She rode in that gorgeous coach of wealth as one to the purple manner born; as Cleopatra of old must have sat upon her Nile barge.

Bob rode unbelievably—as one to the bus and subway born!

The chauffeur was shut off from them by a thick glass partition. This chauffeur, anyway, Bob noted, was an automaton, a Robot, and hardly a thinking or interested human being. He was a perfect chauffeur.

Now and then, when the exigencies of traffic or road conditions were too much for even the marvelous springs of this marvelous car to take up entirely, Mrs. Hammond would cleverly manage enough of a sway so that she could accidentally brush Bob's hand, or arm, or shoulder. In each of those thrilling momentary contacts she lived a lifetime. It was genuinely difficult to control her impulses, her fevers, now that she was so intimately situated with her big boy prey. He was her Adonis, and she wanted to be Venus. But Venus was a crude and vulgar creature compared to Mrs. Hammond. Venus had no self-control. Mrs. Hammond had magnificent self-control.

Inwardly she reveled in her thrill. Outwardly she sat serene and rather haughty.

The great car fled noiselessly, like a chariot on air, through the Palladium hinterland, and later threaded pantherlike through the jungle of Manhattan's traffic.

Sometime during the trip across the Fort Lee Ferry, Mrs. Hammond had diffidently broached the subject which Bob was dying to hear, though from sheer politeness he had foreborne to question her.

"It's awfully hard for me to talk this over with a chap like you, Bob, for several reasons. In the first place, your inexperience with life no doubt makes you suspicious of all women; and in the second place, I am sure that the people at the Palisado Inn have poisoned your mind against me—" she said softly.

"No one can poison my mind against you, Della," he interrupted with the hot loyalty of youth. "I think you're a square shooter, and that's all that counts!"

Mrs. Hammond smiled to herself to see how easily he had stepped into the trap of her pre-arranged

CIRCUS ANIMALS ENDANGERED AS WATERS RISE

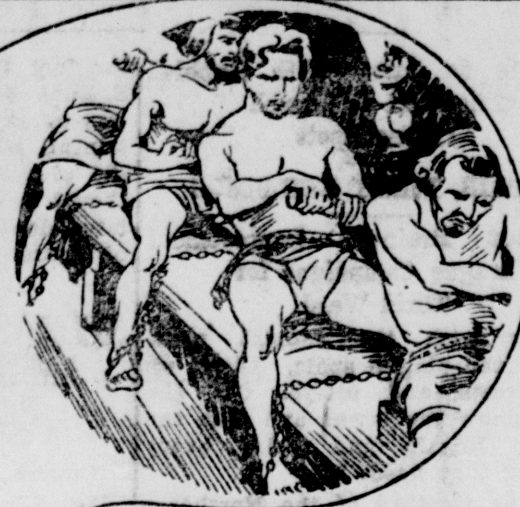

Penn. Ind., March 22.—(UP)—Preparations were made today by officials of the American Circus corporation to transport hundreds of wild animals to safety if flood waters rise higher around circus winter headquarters here.

Overflowing water of the Wabash and Mississippi rivers at noon had crept to within a few inches of the barn where the animals, belonging to the Sells-Floto and Hagenback-Wallace circuses, were quartered. The menagerie is valued at nearly a million dollars and includes the largest collection of feline animals in America as well as a herd of thirty elephants.

NATIONAL HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Wichita, Kans., March 23.—Girl athletes of seven states spent a quiet day here today, resting up for their opening contests tonight in the National High School Girls' Basketball tournament. It is the first event of the nature ever held in Kansas—the birthplace of basketball.

CLAIM IT IS TIME FOR MAN WHO FISHES TO PAY THE COSTS

St. Paul, Minn., March 23.—(UP)—Minnesota resident fishing license costing 50 cents, today had the approval of the senate game and fish committee.

Sen. W. C. Zamboni, Owatonna, was among 6 to 4 majority who voted for the license bill because, he said, "the lakes of Minnesota are rapidly being depleted of game fish and unless additional funds are raised for propagation there will soon be no fish."

"We take up money," Zamboni continued, "from the hunters and use it to stock our waters with fish. I think it is time for the man who fishes to pay the cost. Anyone who objects to paying 50 cents for a fishing license ought not to fish."

Sen. H. A. Bridgman, Bemidji, opposed the bill, declaring that "it will make criminals of the farmer, who will not bother to take out a license for the once or twice they find time to fish during the summer."

Other members of the committee maintained that the resident license would lessen the difficulties of game wardens in enforcing the non-resident license law.

Difference of opinion in the committee, indicated a sharp fight in the chamber.

BUNCH BEST CONDITIONED IN MANY YEARS

GOOD WEATHER WARDS OFF USUAL GRIEF OVER LAME OLD ARMS

SOME SLIGHT CASUALTIES AMONG THE ELECT OF THE PLAYERS

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, March 23.—Making due allowances for the spree that the weather sometimes takes in late March and early April, it is safe to believe that the best conditioned bunch of ball clubs in years will open the major league season.

The usual run of training camp injuries have occurred, casualties including Walter Johnson, Bucky Harris, Ray Schalk, Babe Ruth and Johnny Mostil, but good weather which prevailed during the training season in the south spared most of the managers the grief and worry of lame old arms and stiffened old legs.

Condition of the athletes, at the start always means much and it may be a bigger factor than ever this year in deciding the pennant winners.

The importance and the value of a flying start was demonstrated last year by the performance of the New York Yankees, who went away so fast to a commanding lead that they never were caught in spite of a most annoying late season slump.

The "jump" this year, with strength in both leagues so closely grouped among four clubs in each circuit, will be more important than ever. That managers of the contending teams realize the strategic value of a fast start has been plainly apparent by the zeal they have employed in getting veteran pitchers ready to work.

The Washington club has been hit particularly by injuries. Walter Johnson was pitching to the batters in the Washington camp at Tampa when he was felled by a line drive that struck him on the ankle. A bone was fractured. It is not likely that the grand old veteran will be able to work the first month of the season.

Bucky Harris was also disabled when he cut off a throw from the outfield in an exhibition game and jammed up the index finger on his throwing hand so badly that he may be out of the game for weeks. Even if he is able to start the season he will not be at his best.

Harris, along with other competent critics, has stressed the necessity of a lot of good pitching from the Washington veterans to keep the club that's getting more and more attention as a possibility.

The chances of the White Sox—figuring that only the Boston Red

Sox seem to be hopelessly out of the running—were almost ruined by an injury which fractured Schalk's hand and more particularly by the act of Johnny Mostil, whose self-inflicted wounds may have ended for all time his career as a baseball player. The White Sox can carry on for a while without Schalk but they certainly cannot find a player of Mostil's class and ability to fill the gap in the outfield.

Babe Ruth's injuries—a charley-horse and strained muscles—are not serious. The $70,000 per year star has not recovered as quickly as expected and while he is still limping around, he ought to be able to work out of it before the season opens.

Adams will play second for the Browns.

CLAIM IT IS TIME FOR MAN WHO FISHES TO PAY THE COSTS

St. Paul, Minn., March 23.—(UP)—Minnesota resident fishing license costing 50 cents, today had the approval of the senate game and fish committee.

Sen. W. C. Zamboni, Owatonna, was among 6 to 4 majority who voted for the license bill because, he said, "the lakes of Minnesota are rapidly being depleted of game fish and unless additional funds are raised for propagation there will soon be no fish."

"We take up money," Zamboni continued, "from the hunters and use it to stock our waters with fish. I think it is time for the man who fishes to pay the cost. Anyone who objects to paying 50 cents for a fishing license ought not to fish."

Sen. H. A. Bridgeman, Bemidji, opposed the bill, declaring that "it will make criminals of the farmers who will not bother to take out a license for the once or twice they find time to fish during the summer."

Other members of the committee maintained that the resident license would lessen the difficulties of game wardens in enforcing the non-resident license law.

Difference of opinion in the committee, indicated a sharp fight in the chamber.

BUNCH BEST CONDITIONED IN MANY YEARS

GOOD WEATHER WARDS OFF USUAL GRIEF OVER LAME OLD ARMS

SOME SLIGHT CASUALTIES AMONG THE ELECT OF THE PLAYERS

By HENRY L. FARRELL

New York, March 23.—Making due allowances for the spree that the weather sometimes takes in late March and early April, it is safe to believe that the best conditioned bunch of ball clubs in years will open the major league season.

The usual run of training camp injuries have occurred, casualties including Walter Johnson, Bucky Harris, Ray Schalk, Babe Ruth and Johnny Mostil, but good weather which prevailed during the training season in the south spared most of the managers the grief and worry of lame old arms and stiffened old legs.

Condition of the athletes, at the start always means much and it may be a bigger factor than ever this year in deciding the pennant winners.

The importance and the value of a flying start was demonstrated last year by the performance of the New York Yankees, who went away so fast to a commanding lead that they never were caught in spite of a most annoying late season slump.

The "jump" this year, with strength in both leagues so closely grouped among four clubs in each circuit, will be more important than ever. That managers of the contending teams realize the strategic value of a fast start has been plainly apparent in getting veteran pitchers ready to work.

The Washington club has been hit particularly by injuries. Walter Johnson was pitching to the batters in the Washington camp at Tampa when he was felled by a line drive that struck him on the ankle. A bone was fractured. It is not likely that the grand old veteran will be able to work the first month of the season.

Bucky Harris was also disabled when he cut off a throw from the outfield in an exhibition game and jammed up the index finger on his throwing hand so badly that he may be out of the game for weeks. Even if he is able to start the season he will not be at his best.

Harris, along with other competent critics, has stressed the necessity of a lot of good pitching from the Washington veterans to keep the club that's getting more and more attention as a possibility.

The chances of the White Sox—figuring that only the Boston Red

Sox seem to be hopelessly out of the running—were almost ruined by an injury which fractured Schalk's hand and more particularly by the act of Johnny Mostil, whose self-inflicted wounds may have ended for all time his career as a baseball player. The White Sox can carry on for a while without Schalk but they certainly cannot find a player of Mostil's class and ability to fill the gap in the outfield.

Babe Ruth's injuries—a charley-horse and strained muscles—are not serious. The $70,000 per year star has not recovered as quickly as expected and while he is still limping around, he ought to be able to work out of it before the season opens.

TEACHERS PREPARE FINE BANQUET

Brainerd Rotary Club Entertained at High School Tuesday
Noon

STUDENTS IN BURLESQUE

Miss Mary Tornstrom Gave Account of Trip in Superior
Forest Reserve

Brainerd Rotarians were entertained Tuesday noon in the high school sewing room, dinner being prepared and served by the teachers. The menu was a most satisfying one, including fruit cocktail, roast beef, browned potatoes, peas, jello, salad, ice cream and cake.

The meal was so good, the portions so generous, that the Rotarians spent more time discussing the meal and complimenting the teachers, than paying any attention to their own program and in fact, inadvertently cut short an ambitious program prepared by the teachers.

It is an unwritten law of Rotary to sing at every luncheon but on this occasion the Rotarian company ate to its fullest capacity and had no room for singing.

Miss Mary Tornstrom, master of ceremonies announced the first number, humorous readings by Miss Amy Pentin which drew hearty applause.

"ALLEY DOG" ENTERED IN SHOW

BOY OWNER GIVES REMARKABLE PEDIGREE OF THE MONGREL

Chicago, March 23. — (UP)—An "alley dog" will have a place of honor with the blue bloods of the canine world when the 26th annual show of the Chicago Kennel club opens Friday.

The dog has been entered by 14 year old Frank Brown who proclaims the dog is "self made." The dog goes by the rather common name of "Steve."

In writing officials of the show, asking permission to enter his dog, the boy gave the following "pedigree."

Born—don't know.

Ownership—found by me in an alley in 1921 when he was homeless and hungry.

Name—"Steve."

Parents—don't know.

Previous shows—won beauty prize in unpedigreed show in 1922; won special first prize in 1926 Kennel club show.

Special qualifications—was the hero in stopping two robbers who attempted to rob the bank of Albany park of $700. The dog chased one of the robbers and forced the bandit to drop the loot.

Officials of the Kennel club were puzzled as to whether to permit the dog to enter the show but his young master's youthful letter explaining that "Steve is part wonderful dog and this year I'll fix his cage up swell," won the dog the right to contest with the blue bloods of the dog world.

FEDERAL RADIO COMMISSION QUESTIONNAIRES

Washington, March 23.—(UP)—The federal radio commission today sent applications for licenses to all broadcasting stations, in the form of questionnaires calling for detailed information.

Some of the major questions included:

"Is the applicant the representative of an alien or foreign government?"

"What was the total number of hours the station operated during the year?"

"Was the station connected by land wires to any other station?"

"What service is proposed to be rendered?"

"Why will the operation of the station be in the public convenience, interest and necessity?"

"Which of his plays is it?" her caller asked.

"Edith mentioned the name of it, but I'm not sure whether it's 'If You Like It That Way' or 'Nothing Much Doing.'"

Mental Control

"The next thing, I suppose," growled Mr. Grump, who thought his liberties were being tampered with, "they'll be controlling a man's thoughts by government edict."

"They're doing that now indirectly," answered his companion. "I spend most of my time thinking about how I'm going to pay my taxes."

Sawmills and Squirrels

The side-striped ground squirrel or rock squirrel is a resident of the open forests of the western mountain ranges, says Nature Magazine, and is attracted also to the sites of old sawmills and abandoned mining camps. I take great pleasure in recommending Iso=Vis Motor Oil to any user of motor oils. I know it gives better starting lubrication and extended lubrication service.

Iso=Vis has aroused enthusiasm because it solves the old dilution problem that has bothered motorists for years. The oil of the past lost two-thirds of its body, or viscosity before the car had gone 200 miles. Iso=Vis maintains constant viscosity.

Iso=Vis is of the right body to make starting easier. After a thousand miles it is still of the right body, lubricating efficiently and completely.

That is why Iso=Vis reduces repair bills—puts new pleasure and satisfaction in motoring—and creates enthusiastic customers! Try it today!

Miss Mary Tornstrom Gave Account of Trip in Superior Forest Reserve

Brainerd Rotarians were entertained Tuesday noon in the high school sewing room, dinner being prepared and served by the teachers. The menu was a most satisfying one, including fruit cocktail, roast beef, browned potatoes, peas, jello, salad, ice cream and cake.

The meal was so good, the portions so generous, that the Rotarians spent more time discussing the meal and complimenting the teachers, than paying any attention to their own program and in fact, inadvertently cut short an ambitious program prepared by the teachers.

It is an unwritten law of Rotary to sing at every luncheon but on this occasion the Rotarian company ate to its fullest capacity and had no room for singing.

Indian Ceremonies Mark Final Rites
for Grand Old Indian at
Mille Lacs Lake

WAS PROMINENT FIGURE

Met President Roosevelt; Secured
Appropriation of $40,000
From Congress

Indian burial rites for Me-Gee-Zee, only remaining Chippewa Indian Chief in this part of the country and one of the few recognized chiefs of the tribe in the United States took place at his home near the Indian Trading Post on Mille Lacs Lake on Sunday with nearly 300 Indians of his tribe in attendance.

The Chippewa chief who was 67 years old was buried in an old Indian cemetery on his land which contains the bodies of Indians of a century past.

Me-Gee-Zee, the name being translated, Eagle, passed away in the hospital at Princeton. He had been confined in the hospital as a result of a mastoid operation which was successful but was followed by meningitis from which he succumbed.

The popular chief was considered one of the most prominent figures in the advancement of the Chippewa Indian race at Mille Lacs Lake. He was loved for his authority of maintaining a friendly feeling of the Indians in the tribe.

Me-Gee-Zee was the owner of 80 acres of land at Indian Point, considered one of the choicest bits of property in the Mille Lacs Lake area. He was born on the land and took up more for homesteads granting permission to close to 300 Indians to live on the land with him. The property includes two miles of lake-shore property. His son Joseph Eagle is his heir.

The Chippewa chief was instrumental in securing an appropriation of $40,000 from Congress to buy land in 1915, through his official visit to Washington when he met President Theodore Roosevelt.

It is not likely that another chief will be appointed to fill his place.

STILL TESTIFYING

Over Four Sessions for Jacobs to Tell All He Knows

St. Paul, March 23.—(UP)—The senate investigating committee, confronted with an increasing amount of evidence, held its first daylight session late today.

A. N. Jacobs, Minneapolis publisher again took the stand to relate his activities on behalf of U. S. Senator Thomas D. Schall in the 1924 campaign. It was the fourth session at which he has been the witness.

Jacobs was expected to be turned over to Schall's counsel for cross-examination after about an hour of direct testimony. The cross-examination may take several days.

Letters exchanged between Jacobs and Schall were to be identified and read into the records.

Senator Schall broke into the testimony shortly after the hearing started. "That's a lie—a damn dirty lie and he knows it—and you can put that in the record if you want to."

Jacobs was on the stand at the time. The outbreak came after Jacobs had declared that he had submitted to Sen. Schall an article charging that former Senator Magnus Johnson had been arrested and had pleaded guilty in Minneapolis to charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Jacobs said Sen. Schall remarked, "That's a good story; go ahead and publish it."

Jacobs said it was published in a Minneapolis magazine, "Scandal."

It developed that the Magnus Johnson arrested and fined was not the former senator, and as a result, Jacobs was sentenced to the Minneapolis workhouse for 60 days for criminal libel.

Jacobs said he read the entire article to Schall at Washington, D. C., before it was published.

Chase on White Fish Lake Results

Wolves

COLLECT BOUNTY TODAY

Frank Kamberling Drove Car While
John Waited Opportunity
to Shoot

A story of how he and his brother Frank played a game of hide and seek with two wolves on White Fish Lake was told today by John Kamberling, Jenkins, who collected bounty amounting to $30 on two fine wolf hides at the county auditor's office.

The two brothers on March 15 noticed two wolves on the ice. Securing a rifle Frank Kamberling drove the car while John kept the rifle ready for use when he could make a sure shot on the wolves. A chase of the two wolves over the ice and snow on the lakes finally culminated in John shooting the two.

The wolf hunter also bagged a wolf on the ice of the same lake in January when he chased it on foot for several miles around the lake. The wolf finally gave up and crouched menacingly behind a snowdrift where it was killed.

FORMER BRAINERD JEWELER

Explains Growth and New National

Stanley Vanek, formerly a jeweler of Brainerd, now a resident of Seattle, Wash., writes as follows to the Dispatch on conditions in Seattle:

"First I wish to say we are getting your Dispatch regularly and enjoy it to the utmost. As in looking through it I can imagine myself back there with you all. I notice quite a few changes since we left, some quite interesting.

"This is a wonderful country with some very interesting people but after all is said, I shall always cherish pleasant memories of Brainerd and the people there. I am not at all ashamed to say that I very often get homesick. This city is growing very rapidly or as I should say by leaps and bounds. A number of four or more story buildings are being torn down and replaced with larger and more modern ones. Eastern capital is being invested in these improvements. The residential districts are trying to keep pace with the growth of the business districts with the result you can see new buildings going up everywhere. The houses here are very different than those in Brainerd. The majority of them are unique bungalows and Spanish designs. Some have garages in the basements and others built in.

"A new national highway is being contemplated through the city, which will be 90 feet wide and boulevardized. This is to be a direct route from Bel- lingham to Seattle and south to Tacoma and on.

"The work was started last fall and continued most of the winter, as the ground does not freeze here, but it is expected will take a long time to complete, as it is to be a gigantic undertaking.

"The weather here this winter has been quite cold and wet with low humidity which is more penetrating than the cold snappy Minnesota winter weather. It snowed about three times, the most being about five inches which turned into slush but disappeared in a day or so. The mountains, Ranier, the Cascade, and Olympic Ranges, visible from Seattle, are always covered with snow. You can go up in the snow with your auto in a very short time as the Snoqualmie pass is only about 65 miles from Seattle with a good road all the way.

"The roads are very similar to the Minnesota gravel roads. The snow on the pass sets deep, sometimes 12 to 15 feet and even more. This pass they attempt to keep open most of the winter with power rotary plows driven by large tractors. Vegetables thrive well here as some of the fields

ME-GEE-ZEE, LAST CHIPPEWA CHIEF DIES

Indian Ceremonies Mark Final Rites
for Grand Old Indian at
Mille Lacs Lake

WAS PROMINENT FIGURE

Met President Roosevelt; Secured
Appropriation of $40,000
From Congress

Indian burial rites for Me-Gee-Zee, only remaining Chippewa Indian Chief in this part of the country and one of the few recognized chiefs of the tribe in the United States took place at his home near the Indian Trading Post on Mille Lacs Lake on Sunday with nearly 300 Indians of his tribe in attendance.

The Chippewa chief who was 67 years old was buried in an old Indian cemetery on his land which contains the bodies of Indians of a century past.

Me-Gee-Zee, the name being translated, Eagle, passed away in the hospital at Princeton. He had been confined in the hospital as a result of a mastoid operation which was successful but was followed by meningitis from which he succumbed.

The popular chief was considered one of the most prominent figures in the advancement of the Chippewa Indian race at Mille Lacs Lake. He was loved for his authority of maintaining a friendly feeling of the Indians in the tribe.

Me-Gee-Zee was the owner of 80 acres of land at Indian Point, considered one of the choicest bits of property in the Mille Lacs Lake area. He was born on the land and took up more for homesteads granting permission to close to 300 Indians to live on the land with him. The property includes two miles of lake-shore property. His son Joseph Eagle is his heir.

The Chippewa chief was instrumental in securing an appropriation of $40,000 from Congress to buy land in 1915, through his official visit to Washington when he met President Theodore Roosevelt.

It is not likely that another chief will be appointed to fill his place.

STILL TESTIFYING

Over Four Sessions for Jacobs to Tell All He Knows

St. Paul, March 23.—(UP)—The senate investigating committee, confronted with an increasing amount of evidence, held its first daylight session late today.

A. N. Jacobs, Minneapolis publisher again took the stand to relate his activities on behalf of U. S. Senator Thomas D. Schall in the 1924 campaign. It was the fourth session at which he has been the witness.

Jacobs was expected to be turned over to Schall's counsel for cross-examination after about an hour of direct testimony. The cross-examination may take several days.

Letters exchanged between Jacobs and Schall were to be identified and read into the records.

Senator Schall broke into the testimony shortly after the hearing started. "That's a lie—a damn dirty lie and he knows it—and you can put that in the record if you want to."

Jacobs was on the stand at the time.

The outbreak came after Jacobs had declared that he had submitted to Sen. Schall an article charging that former Senator Magnus Johnson had been arrested and had pleaded guilty in Minneapolis to charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Jacobs said Sen. Schall remarked, "That's a good story; go ahead and publish it."

Jacobs said it was published in a Minneapolis magazine, "Scandal."

It developed that the Magnus Johnson arrested and fined was not the former senator, and as a result, Jacobs was sentenced to the Minneapolis workhouse for 60 days for criminal libel.

Jacobs said he read the entire article to Schall at Washington, D. C., before it was published.

BROTHERS TRACK WOLVES WITH CAR

Chase on White Fish Lake Results
in Killing of Two
Wolves

COLLECT BOUNTY TODAY

Frank Kamberling Drove Car While
John Waited Opportunity
to Shoot

A story of how he and his brother Frank played a game of hide and seek with two wolves on White Fish Lake was told today by John Kamberling, Jenkins, who collected bounty amounting to $30 on two fine wolf hides at the county auditor's office.

The two brothers on March 15 noticed two wolves on the ice. Securing a rifle Frank Kamberling drove the car while John kept the rifle ready for use when he could make a sure shot on the wolves. A chase of the two wolves over the ice and snow on the lakes finally culminated in John shooting the two.

The wolf hunter also bagged a wolf on the ice of the same lake in January when he chased it on foot for several days around the lake. The wolf finally gave up and crouched menacingly behind a snowdrift where it was killed.

INDIANA STATE SENATE CONSIDERS IMPEACHMENT

TRIAL OF JUDGE CLARENCE
DEARTH NOW BEFORE
THE BODY

MUNCIE JURIST CHARGED WITH
INTERFERING WITH FREE-
DOM OF PRESS

Indianapolis, Ind., March 23.—Details of the confiscation of an issue of the Muncie Post-Democrat on order of Judge Clarence Dearth were before the state senate today in the impeachment trial of Dearth.

The Muncie jurist is charged with interfering with freedom of the press and with violating state laws governing the methods of selecting juries in his court.

Four Muncie newsboys testified in the impeachment trial that they were haled into earth's court and were threatened with punishment if they continued selling the Post-Democrat, which contained an attack on Dearth. The boys said their papers were taken away from them and that they were not paid for the confiscated papers.

Arthur Jones, police chief, admitted he ordered arrest of the boys on instructions from Judge Dearth without formal warrants.

George Dale, publisher of the Post-Democrat, is under sentence for contempt of court because of his repeated editorial attacks on Dearth. The impeachment charges are being prosecuted before the senate by six members of the house of representatives. A two-thirds vote convicting Dearth of the charges would remove him from office.

A Picturization Long Awaited

"Ben Hur," the long awaited picturization of the stage spectacle founded on General Lew Wallace's immortal story, will have its local presentation at the Park theatre tomorrow, March 24, for one night only.

The accompanying orchestral score is by David Mendoza and William Axt, the composers of "The Big Parade." The four principal romantic roles of the epic are taken by Ramon Novarro in the title role, Francis X. Bushman, May McAvoy and Carmel Myers. Betty Bronson, the originator of the film Peter Pan, is the Madonna in the Nativity scenes which form the screen prologue of the picture. The following facts regarding this super-pageant are very interesting:

The novel, written by General Lew Wallace in 1880, has been a best-seller for forty-five years.

Translated into ten different languages; first novel to be translated into Arabic.

Dramatized and first produced November 29, 1899.

Played largest cities for twenty-two consecutive years.

The screen version has been three years in the making.

One year and a half spent in Rome on historical sites and another year and a half filming scenes at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, Culver City.

Film premier December 30, 1925

at the George M. Cohan theatre, New York.

150,000 people employed in picture—100,000 in the Antioch Chariot Race, alone.

One hundred ships built and launched for the sea fights between the Roman and Pirate navies.

Jerusalem restored for important sequences in story—Procession of Roman Power—triumph of Arrius—Grove of Palms—Court of Pilate.

Reverent picturization of History's mightiest events.

1,900,000 feet of negative exposed and 850,000 feet of positive printed.

Forty cameras were used to film the scenes in the arena which is 1,500 feet long. This was the biggest set ever erected on any studio "lot".

INDIANA STATE SENATE CONSIDERS IMPEACHMENT

TRIAL OF JUDGE CLARENCE
DEARTH NOW BEFORE
THE BODY

MUNCIE JURIST CHARGED WITH
INTERFERING WITH FREE-
DOM OF PRESS

Indianapolis, Ind., March 23.—Details of the confiscation of an issue of the Muncie Post-Democrat on order of Judge Clarence Dearth were before the state senate today in the impeachment trial of Dearth.

The Muncie jurist is charged with interfering with freedom of the press and with violating state laws governing the methods of selecting juries in his court.

Four Muncie newsboys testified in the impeachment trial that they were haled into earth's court and were threatened with punishment if they continued selling the Post-Democrat, which contained an attack on Dearth. The boys said their papers were taken away from them and that they were not paid for the confiscated papers.

Arthur Jones, police chief, admitted he ordered arrest of the boys on instructions from Judge Dearth without formal warrants.

George Dale, publisher of the Post-Democrat, is under sentence for contempt of court because of his repeated editorial attacks on Dearth. The impeachment charges are being prosecuted before the senate by six members of the house of representatives. A two-thirds vote convicting Dearth of the charges would remove him from office.

A Picturization Long Awaited

"Ben Hur," the long awaited picturization of the stage spectacle founded on General Lew Wallace's immortal story, will have its local presentation at the Park theatre tomorrow, March 24, for one night only.

The accompanying orchestral score is by David Mendoza and William Axt, the composers of "The Big Parade." The four principal romantic roles of the epic are taken by Ramon Novarro in the title role, Francis X. Bushman, May McAvoy and Carmel Myers. Betty Bronson, the originator of the film Peter Pan, is the Madonna in the Nativity scenes which form the screen prologue of the picture. The following facts regarding this super-pageant are very interesting:

The novel, written by General Lew Wallace in 1880, has been a best-seller for forty-five years.

Translated into ten different languages; first novel to be translated into Arabic.

Dramatized and first produced November 29, 1899.

Played largest cities for twenty-two consecutive years.

The screen version has been three years in the making.

One year and a half spent in Rome on historical sites and another year and a half filming scenes at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, Culver City.

Film premier December 30, 1925 at the George M. Cohan theatre, New York.

150,000 people employed in picture—100,000 in the Antioch Chariot Race, alone.

One hundred ships built and launched for the sea fights between the Roman and Pirate navies.

Jerusalem restored for important sequences in story—Procession of Roman Power—triumph of Arrius—Grove of Palms—Court of Pilate.

Reverent picturization of History's mightiest events.

1,900,000 feet of negative exposed and 850,000 feet of positive printed.

Forty cameras were used to film the scenes in the arena which is 1,500 feet long. This was the biggest set ever erected on any studio "lot".

Feen-a-mint

The Chewing LAXATIVE

Chew It Like Chewing Gum

A pleasure to use. Very efficient. Children love it. No taste but that of sweet mint. The most popular laxative because it's a "satisfier."

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. —Advt.
